

TUFH INSTITUTIONAL MEMBERSHIP

Why become a member?

- ✓ Access to a Global Network
TUFH unites global institutions, professionals, students, and experts through the TUFH Online Community to collaborate and share knowledge on global health challenges.
- ✓ Access to Communities of Practice
TUFH's Global Communities of Practice increases the knowledge, skills, and competencies to serve Indigenous, Migrant and Refugee, Remote and Rural, Aging, Intellectual Developmental Disabilities, and Women's Health populations through global partners.
- ✓ Socially Accountable Institution Recognition & Verification
ISAT, the Institutional Self-Assessment Social Accountability Tool, helps institutions enhance social accountability by engaging stakeholders, assessing readiness, and identifying improvements, with value in the collaborative process.
- ✓ Discounted Conference Registration
TUFH annually holds international conferences with the aim to bring together international participants from different health and educational sectors to network, learn, and teach. Register with a discounted fee for TUFH 2025 as a member.
- ✓ Health Workforce Skill Development
TUFH offers international courses and exchanges to increase the knowledge, skills, and competencies for students, faculty, and practitioners.
- ✓ Visibility and Networking
Showcase your institution's global health efforts, engage in key discussions, and network with peers and collaborators through TUFH initiatives, events, and online platforms.
- ✓ Fellowship Opportunities
The Social Accountability Fellowship by TUFH and NOSM University advances impact and leadership. The TUFH Teaching Fellowship helps educators align education with social accountability.
- ✓ Student Engagement and Opportunities
Membership allows students to join the TUFH Online Community, engage with the Student Network Organization, and start their own SNO chapter.
- ✓ Publication Opportunities
Explore publication opportunities through Education for Health and Social Innovations Journal, along with access to global health resources to enhance your institution's impact.

JOIN NOW